

RE·PURPOSE

Get what you know your classrooms need
NOW for FREE

You know what your schools and classrooms need, but you may not have the budget, or there might be too many administrative barriers in place. We're here to help.

At Repurpose, our goal is to build new relationships between businesses that have excess furniture and equipment, and local school districts and schools with limited budgets.

Gently used office surplus can be claimed for free at our online marketplace, and delivered directly to distribution centers or school delivery points, releasing valuable budget for new projects.

As procurement experts and teachers you shop the Repurpose marketplace for free

Order the items you need and select delivery to your warehouse or directly to school

By shopping smart you can release valuable budget for new projects

Schools benefit because administrators and teachers can easily gain access to more, higher quality supplies, without spending their own dollars. The result, well stocked classrooms that enhance the student learning environment.
